

MSc in Architecture (Design)

INTRODUCTION

Our MSc is especially for bachelor graduates who want to advance their professional development in the field of architectural design. The programme leads to a Szent István University degree, accredited by the Hungarian Accreditation Committee and linked to the European Credit Transfer and Accumulation System (ECTS). The stringent quality criteria applied by the Accreditation Committee are based on European standards for higher education.

The aim of the training is to prepare students for being able to apply their complex knowledge in the field of environmental development in general, and architecture in particular. Significant emphasis is laid on theoretical foundations and on design training, respectively, at a high standard. Creative and technical fields are well balanced, with developing various skills in visual arts and engineering.

The academic staff of the Faculty have proven expertise in Central-Eastern European Countries, as well as inside and outside the European region. This offers our candidates the possibility to discuss and to initiate programs and projects in their respective native country.
